

Conducting a brainstorm

Executing a brainstorm isn't unique; holding a productive brainstorm is. Great brainstorms are ones that set the stage for fresh and generative thinking through simple guidelines and an open and collaborative environment. Use this when you're just kicking-off a new project and want to hit the ground running with big ideas that will move your

- Set the stage for creativity and inclusivity Go over the brainstorming rules and keep them in front of your team while brainstorming to encourage collaboration, optimism, and creativity.
- Encourage wild ideas (If none of the ideas sound a bit ridiculous, then you are filtering yourself too much.)
 Defer judgement (This can be as direct as harsh words or as subtle as a condescending tone or talking over one another.)
 Build on the ideas of others ("I want to build on that idea" or the use of "yes, and...")
 Stay focused on the topic at hand
 Have one conversation at a time
 Be visual (Draw and/or upload to show ideas, whenever possible.)
 Go for quantity

Choose your best "How Might We" Questions

Have each participant begin in the "solo brainstorm space" by silently brainstorming ideas and placing them into the template. This "silent-storming" avoids group-think and creates an inclusive environment for introverts and extroverts alike. Set a time limit. Encourage people to go for quantity.

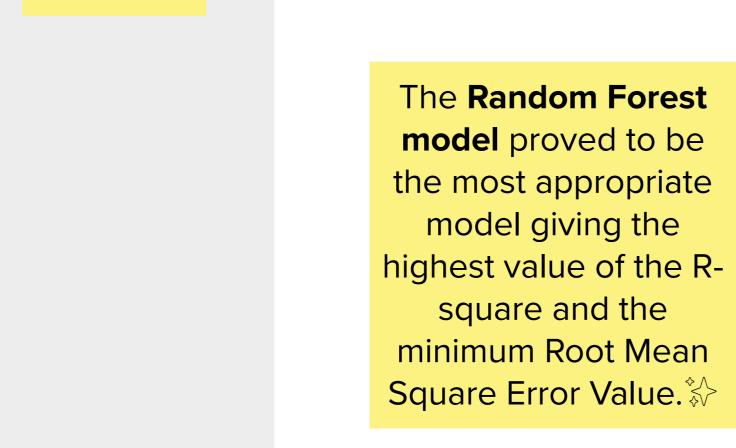

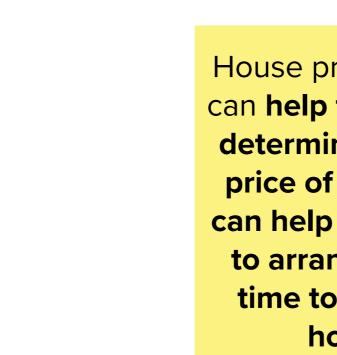

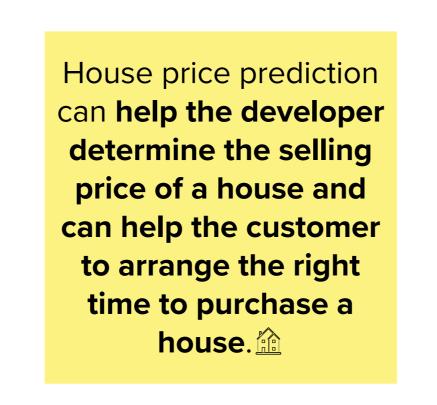

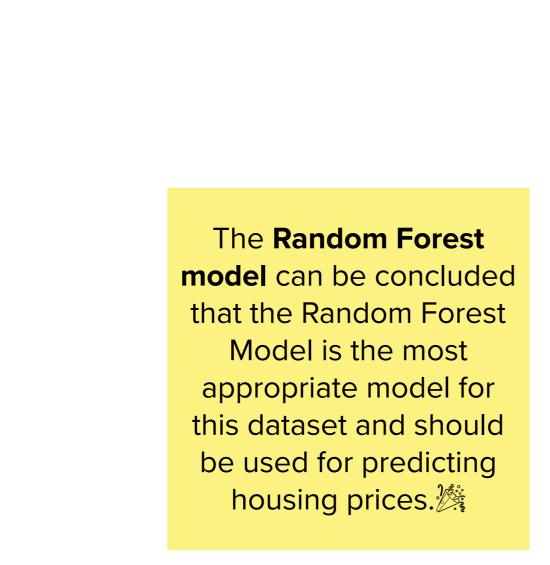

Group discussion

This housing price prediction model acts as a hand for buyer and seller or a true realtor to form a better-informed decision. to realize this, diverse features are set and various algorithms are applied like Random Forest and Decision Tree.

Brainstorm as a group

Have everyone move their ideas into the "group sharing space" within the template and have the team silently read through them. As a team, sort and that arise. Encourage "Yes, and..." and build on the ideas of other people along group them by thematic topics or similarities. Discuss and answer any questions in the test data.

Decide your focus

Give each person two icons to vote which idea should your team focus on.

5 minutes

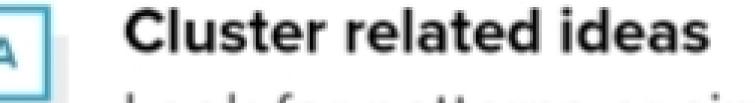

After you collaborate

A brainstorm like this typically results in a handful of promising ideas that you can carry forward and act upon.

Quick add-ons

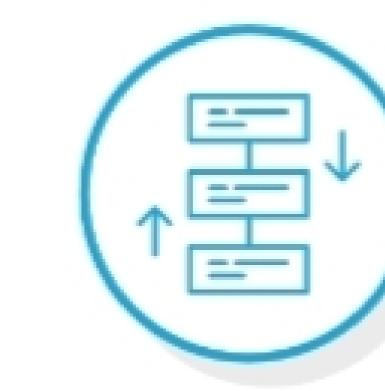

Look for patterns or similarities in the standout ideas. Could any be combined together to form a stronger concept? Cluster similar ideas and label each cluster with a theme.

Vote on the most promising ideas

Narrow your focus to only the strongest few ideas by holding a Voting Session. Give each person 2 votes
